ABOUT ME

Hello, My name is Shruti. As a dedicated front-end developer with a background in Bachelor of Commerce, I have always been interested in how things work and grow. It was this curiosity that led me to the world of coding, and I haven't looked back since. Through online learning and practical experience with small projects, I have gained a solid understanding of the field and developed a passion for creating functional and visually appealing websites. As a quick learner and problem-solver, I am always eager to take on new challenges and expand my skillset. I am now seeking opportunities to contribute my expertise to innovative and dynamic projects.
